EBRPD okays new land buy

LIVERMORE — Local hikers will soon be able to enjoy the greatly expanded Morgan Territory Regional Preserve, thanks to a major land purchase approved yesterday by East Bay Regional Park District directors.

The EBRPD board approved a payment of $225,000 to Mrs. Beatrice Cardoza, a Morgan Territory Road resident, for 555 acres of her land.

It will be added to 960 acres already publicly owned some nine miles north of Livermore.

Morgan Territory Road can be reached by going out North Livermore Avenue, turning left at the end and making a first right. Prospective hikers are advised to call the park district at 531-9300 to obtain information before attempting the hike.

EBRPD planning staff member June Miller enthusiastically told the board yesterday that the new land offers spectacular views in all directions. There are rocky cliffs and outcroppings, a view of Mt. Diablo and the valley where she says hikers will "find a sense of coolness on hot days."

She said the parkland is made of open grasslands and oak forest with a ridge running north and south.

"You follow an old road bed down the eastern side of the ridge, along huge sloping exposures of rock, and it winds into an incredibly lovely valley," Miller told the board as she showed slides of the park.

"There is a small stream which runs most of the year. Wild grapes hang from the bay trees. Fruit trees mark what perhaps was the site of a home. Off to the far corner there's an old hut, with the roof and wood parts mostly disintergrated."

Hulet Hornbeck, chief of land acquistion, said the Cardoza land will join the other parcel, which used to be the Smith ranch, and "land bank" status. Therefore, there are no parking lots or drinking fountains or other comforts.

Nor is the land patrolled except for an EBRPD helicopter which watches over the property on its regular rounds.

In another acquisition action yesterday, the EBRPD board signed a 25 year lease with California State University, Hayward, to add 35 acre Garin Woods to Garin Regional Park, situated just east of Mission Boulevard in Hayward.

U.S. losing arms race to Russians

LIVERMORE — Top scientists at the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory yesterday expressed concern that if public opinion towards defense spending doesn't improve, the Soviet Union will continue its rock - steady climb toward world military dominance.

Five leaders of the Lab's weapons program met the press yesterday to answer questions raised by a special issue 24-page magazine explaining the research program. The September - October issue of Newsline, mailed to Lab employes last week, was previewed in The Times' Nov. 17 edition.

Present at yesteday's discussion were Dr. Harry Reynolds, associate director for nuclear explosives; Dr. Richard Wagner Jr., associate director for nuclear testing; William A. Lokke, research and development of nuclear weapons division leader; William E. Nelson, weapons engineering division leader; and Dr. Robert B. Barker, evaluation and planning program division leader.

Reynolds explained the purpose of the weapons issue was to "give employes a better idea why we're working on the weapons program." This way, he said, employes could say to friends "here's why we do that" — (build nuclear weapons).

Employes in the nuclear weapons design program have difficulty talking about their work to friends because it is unpopular and classified as top secret, the scientists explained. By opening to public view a general overview of the program, the Lab hopes employes and the general public will begin to better understand and support the defense program.

"What we do here ought to be as well known here as the law of classification allows," Wagner said.

Although the defense budget continues to climb, the scientists pointed out that inflation consumes a large part of their funds. Additionally, they argued, lobbyists for defense spending must fight harder for funds today, despite a gradual decline in "anti-Vietnam" sentiment.

The U.S. has actually reduced its nuclear stockpile, Nelson said, but it now is more versatile because the different types of weapons have increased in number.

Reynolds added that the amount of damage possible has also declined as "cleaner" bombs are designed. These weapons are more accurate and destroy specific targets, leaving surrounding areas relatively unaffected.

areas. The panel agreed that the Lab, and thus surrounding communities, would probably not be a high-priority target if the Soviet Union were to launch a nuclear attack. "I think the City of San Francisco is as likely a target as the City of Livermore," Nelson said.

Scientists agreed, however, that the U.S. is not taking seriously enough the possibility of war. Nelson termed it "socially unpalatable."

The panel agreed that the long-term future of U.S. defense capabilities will be determined in the next four years under President - elect Jimmy Carter.

"There are a lot of hard decisions to be made during the next term," Wagner said.

Whether "consciously or unconsciously," America's future defense course will be decided in the next term, Lokke agreed.

But scientists are more concerned with the public view, for they will make the final decision. And this panel expressed anxiousness over that decision.

"People have an easy way of life, and that makes them complacent," Nelson concluded. —by Bill Cauble

Murray manager's view

Hold onto $1 million investment

The Murray School District has put more than $1 million into the Dolan school site in Dublin's Silvergate section, aside from acquisition costs, but should "hold onto it for another couple years to see what happens," according to soon to retire district business manager Phillip Chubb.

In a lengthy interview Tuesday with The Times, Chubb said the district still has the 15-acre Foremost site off of Dublin Boulevard and is paying about $2,000-a-year penalty to the state, since it has not been developed.

The Foremost site was acquired several years ago at a cost of $155,960.48 for the purpose of building district offices and a corporation yard. It is located adjacent to the Foremost Company and the Amador Valley Joint High School District's continuation high school.

The Dolan property off of Castillian in Dublin has been intended for use as a seventh - eighth grade school. However, voters turned down a bond election in March that Chubb says could have given the district the green light to build half of the school.

The million - dollar plus figure includes approximately $250,000 for planning services to district architect James Aitken and about $800,000 for grading and clearing of the site.

The latter project was accomplished in the six months prior to the March election.

Dolan is actually the third school site in the past decade the district had hoped to build a school on. The others were the Kolb and Stoneson properties. The district still has the Stoneson property but is not paying a penalty to the state, according to Chubb.

Murray spent $205,239.50 in site acquisition costs for the Stoneson site, plus $46,504.40 for surveys and plans, almost all of the latter sum to Aitken.

Aitken, district architect for more than a dozen years, still has a construction planning contract with the district though his master planning pact with Murray has been terminated.

However, Aitken's services would not be needed until the district was able to move on the Dolan site or make an addition at a presently existing school.

Chubb opined that the district could probably get many times what it cost for the Foremost property, and possibly put it towards construction at another site.

As matters now stand, in addition to the Foremost property, the district would incur a penalty if it holds the Dolan site beyond another five years and does not develop it.

It has been graded and cleared and, reportedly, used on an arbitrary basis by youngsters playing soccer or other sports.

A few weeks ago, the district received an inquiry about the Dolan site from Valley Christian Center. The site contains 27 acres and was to be developed as a seventh - eighth grade school utilizing solar energy for heating.

During the course of the interview, Chubb also discussed the possibilities of improvements at Donlon School in Pleasanton, prospects for conversion of a school to seventh - eighth grade use and the Dublin School swimming pool on Vomac Road.

In following editions, these subjects will be reviewed as well as the audit for 1975-76. The audit says the district's loan balance, as of June 30, 1976, is $10.5 million.

VALLEY NEWS BRIEFS

Parks lobby city

Park and recreation commissioners in Pleasanton agreed on a statement of goals that will urge passage in city hall of numerous park programs.

Commissioners want a city council commitment for a ballot measure concerning park development.

The council was given until March for that commitment.

Commissioners fear a park bond proposal is overshadowed by bond issues involving the LAVWMA pipeline and a Las Positas overcrossing at I-680.

Figures range from one to three million dollars for the park bond program.

Hard drug problem

Detective Sgt. Ed Valin, Pleasanton's "one man" narcotics force, says drug usage is on the upswing among youth in his community.

Pushers and users can be found in the better neighborhoods, Sgt. Valin, told a Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce lunchtime gathering, because that's where the money is.

PCP, cocaine and heroin are the "problem," drugs, he said. They reach this community by way of drug users and sellers in neighboring cities, according to Valin.

He is pushing the Pleasanton police department for more funds to fight narcotics use. Valin says the best defense is straight talk, aimed at youngsters, warning them of the drug danger.

Chamber isn't selling street map

PLEASANTON — Solicitations being made to local business people for advertising space in a street map "are not authorized by the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce and do not in any way represent the chamber."

That message was put out following a lively discussion at the chamber's Tuesday meeting at which reports of "a guy selling space in this terrific little map for $98 per square" were offered. Some merchants became upset when "this salesman appeared to be speaking for the chamber, or members of the chamber board of directors." Merle Telford, chamber president, made it clear that "the chamber is in no way involved in this venture," and added a suggestion that local business people "might want to save their advertising dollars for our own Pleasanton Fact Book," a complete informational packet which the chamber plans to publish again next spring as a major fund raiser.

There was a further caution from city police regarding any and all such solicitations. "Make certain they have a business license before you buy."

Keep trucks off Valley Ave.

PLEASANTON — The city council took action to prevent an increase in truck traffic on Valley Avenue east of Santa Rita Road Monday night.

M&M Land Co. wants to build a warehouse on Busch Road, but trucks serving it would have to drive on Valley Avenue to Santa Rita Road past homes in Amador Estates.

However, if M&M could gain access to El Charro Road, that traffic increase could be avoided and that's what the council directed M&M to do.

El Charro Road is a public road near Interstate 580, but it is a private road where it intersects Busch Road, so any firm using it must pay a fee or it can't go through the locked gate near the intersection. Pleasanton Garbage Service uses it, so there is precedent for the council's suggestion.

M&M attorney Bill Hirst was not happy about the delay for negotiations with the El Charro Road owner, but he noted there have been preliminary talks already and he will comply with the directive.

The question still is not resolved though. The public hearing on the question of whether to require M&M to perform a full fledged Environmental Impact Report remains open. Some council members felt that traffic was the only problem and did not want to require a full EIR which costs at least $5,000.

Apparently if the applicant gets access to El Charro Road, the council will be satisfied. If M&M doesn't get the access, the EIR still could be required, though several council members said they fail to see how an EIR would contribute anything practically to solving the problem.

Vice - mayor Joyce LeClaire, though, expressed concern about "the cumulative, overall effect" of the proposed development, which she said "could be very important." She expressed dissatisfaction with City Manager Bill Edgar's negative declaration which stated no EIR is needed.

It was unclear whether the city has the legal position to force M&M to gain access to El Charro Road. Councilman Frank Brandes asked about it and City Attorney Ken Scheidig said the city council could make any requirements "within reason" as long as it is for the public health and safety.

Pleasanton Garbage Service was faced with the same directive from the city council a couple of years ago when it wanted to build its transfer station on Busch Road. It complied with the council's wish and the transfer station was built.

Councilman William Herlihy voted against the council's action. He felt that Valley Avenue long has been designated as a major thoroughfare and an increase in truck traffic is in order. Any developement has impact, but the council has to decide whether the growth is worth any detrimental effects it might bring.

Pleasanton schools eye more music

PLEASANTON — A pilot program survey towards setting up a coordinated music program in Pleasanton schools was recommended by Supt. Bruce Newlin at a special school board meeting last night on music in the schools.

One Pleasanton district school will be selected for the survey, a school Newlin said evidences strong staff and parent support for music.

Present classroom vocal and instrumental music offerings were reviewed and trustees heard a presentation by Barbara Norris, music instructor for the Portola Valley School District near Stanford University.

Mrs. Norris pointed out how the Portola Valley program has specific objectives for the music program at each grade level through grade eight.

The discussion drew an overflow audience.

Holiday Classic opens

The Ninth Annual Holidy Soccer Classic begins Friday in Pleasanton.

Sponsored by the Ballistic Soccer Club, preliminary games will be played Friday and Saturday at a variety of sites with the finals taking place Saturday at the Aquatic Center fields.

Teams from as far away as Nevada and Alberta will be on hand for what is billed as one of the largest youth soccer tournaments on the West Coast.

On the high school scene, basketball season opened yesterday with a trio of boys and girls games. Livermore will open its season tonight with a game at Hayward Mt. Eden while, in soccer, Hayward Moreau travels to Dublin and Concord De La Salle will help Livermore open its season.

Results and details in Times Sports, pages 8-9

Ultimatum to Exxon

Bay Area Air Pollution Control District has advised the huge Exxon Oil Co. refinery at Benicia to "clean up or shut down."

A permanent order directing the refinery into compliance with air quality standards is being sought through the Superior Courts. Exxon has until early December to respond to that action, or be saddled with penalties of $6000 per day, or be shut down. The refinery, which has 350 employees, is the Bay Area's newest, but it also leads the nine - county area in sulfur dioxide emissions.

Call for sewer loan

LIVERMORE — If the pipeline consortium in this valley wants money, Councilman John Staley is proposing this city lend its share so Livermore can get $6,000 interest.

Staley proposed the idea which would call for reimbursement of the interest by users, through reflected rates, at Monday's Council Meeting.

His idea was not received well and the issue was held over for further discussion next Monday.

LIVERMORE — A 13-year-old youth was arrested and booked on suspicion of burglary after he fled police while allegedly carrying a stolen citizens band radio.

According to reports, an Emory Way resident woke up about 6 a.m. Monday and looked out his bedroom window to see a person working under the dashboard of a car parked nearby. The witness watched as the suspect exited the car carrying something. He then called police.

Officer John Balbach responded to the scene and began patrolling the area. He spotted a youth riding a bicycle one-handed, apparently using his other hand to conceal something under his jacket.

Balbach exited his car and waved to the youth to stop. Instead the suspect rode past the officer, with Balbach in foot pursuit. The youth was apprehended a short time after he ditched his bicycle and attempted to flee on foot.

The suspect had in his possession a CB radio he had allegedly taken from Zelma Lucille Ingledue's car. He also admitted to another burglary and led police to his home where another stolen but unreported CB radio was located.

The suspect, currently on probation for a previous burglary conviction, was released to his mother on a notice to appear in court.

LIVERMORE — A tenant in a rented home who allegedly paid the last two months rent with bad checks apparently fled the residence, allegedly taking with her a washer and dryer, police reported.

Don B. Sabin, owner of a Sunset Drive home, told police his tenant had paid the last two months' rent with checks that were returned. The woman apparently moved over the weekend, and Sabin discovered the washer and dryer missing Sunday.

Total value of the missing items is $300. The investigation is continuing.

Burglars take brass hydrant from construction area

PLEASANTON — An all-brass hydrant valued at $450 was unbolted and removed from a housing construction site near Santa Rita Road and Mohr Avenue recently, police report.

Burglars apparently used a large wrench to shut off the water supply and then unbolted the hydrant, police said. It belonged to the A and H Construction Co. of Union City.

There are no suspects in the burglary. —by Bill Cauble

Only one says he'll be candidate

Only one of six Amador and Pleasanton school district trustees up for reelection in March has indicated any certainty of running for another term.

Al Dutchover told The Times earlier this week that though he hasn't made up his mind as yet, he "probably will run for another term" in March. Dutchover is president of the Pleasanton Joint School District board.

Amador Valley Joint High School District board president Wally Decker has already stated he would not seek another term.

John Delaney, with eight years of service on the Amador board, said he is also undecided but is leaning towards not seeking another term. The other trustee whose term expires in March, Wayne Barnes, says he's "on the fence" and will make a decision within the next two weeks.

Pleasanton district trustees up for reelection in March are Karen Finn, a board member four years, and Dennis Reidy, just appointed to complete the unexpired term of Dr. Guy Clark, who moved to Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Mrs. Finn said she was still undecided.

Reidy has been on the board less than a month.

The San Ramon Valley Unified School District board also has three members whose terms expire in March of 1977. They are board president Harold Zuckerman, Joseph DeHope and Virginia Jouris.

In the Murray School District, board president Dr. Ted Woy and Linda Jeffery will be up for reelection if they chose to run again.

Make Komandorski a real village

PLEASANTON — Komandorski Village ought to be truly a village if the housing authority rebuilds it on its current site, Councilman William Herlihy told the council Monday night.

Herlihy said he spoke with Housing Authority Commissioner Penny Deleray about exploration of the idea that the new Komandorski Village should be a complete village with medical services, social services and its own post office.

Bus service could run from the village, connecting it with other areas of the valley, said Herlihy.

"Suppose a tenant pays $200 a month for a one bedroom apartment in the new housing," said Herlihy. "The individual could pay $100 of that and the federal government could pay the rest. Local tax dollars would not be involved. We could build the whole village on the 37 acres there."

Herlihy brought up the matter late in the meeting and there was not city council discussion about it. But he said it is an idea that he wants to "sell" to the council. The existing Komandorski Village's 169 units of "temporary" World War II housing are slated for demolition in two years by state order. Housing Authority Executive Director Michael Parsons is optimistic that the housing authority can form a plan for the housing's replacement on the same site within two years. Federal funding looks promising and there may even be sewer connections available, either through construction of the cross valley wastewater pipeline or a change in Valley Community Services District policy which would credit the housing authority for its existing 169 "temporary" connections.

Park and rec goals—aim at city hall

PLEASANTON — The park and recreation commission passed a statement of goals for the current fiscal year which adopts a more aggressive profile in lobbying the city council for various park programs.

Included in the goals passed last week at the commission's regular monthly meeting is a plan to get a commitment from the city council about a ballot measure for park development. The commission set a March deadline for the city council.

Other goals set by the commission included: formation of a five year capital improvement program with an annual review; a quarterly review of the 1976-77 capital improvement plan, beginning in January; a review of the Sports and Recreation Park general plan during this fiscal year; sending a commissioner to city council meetings when it handles important park and recreation issues; acquainting itself with staff policies by informally meeting with Human Resources, Engineering and Field Services Departments' staff.

Vote on the goals was 4-0 with Commissioner Chuck Gielow absent. One of the strongest points in the goal statement was the declaration that the commission "will take a more assertive position on what it considers priority items". Connected to that is the notion that the commission will pursue the park bond proposal it has been discussing for the past two years or so. Commissioners hope to get a city council directive on it by March, 1977.

So far the park bond proposal has taken a back seat to the proposed LAVWMA pipeline bonds and is also believed to trail such projects as the Las Positas overcrossing and a tax override for more fire and police personnel.

Figures as high as $3 million and as low as $1 million have been mentioned in the past for the park capital improvement bond issue. The bonds would pay for landscaping and equipment of the park sites which are in various stages of development now.

BORN LOSER

If you think things sometimes go wrong for you, you'll feel better after laughing at "The Born Loser" each morning in The Times comics.

Follows money

Hard drug problem grows

PLEASANTON — Drug abuse in this community is still a "serious problem" that is becoming more of a threat as "young people turn to the harder drugs."

Detective Sgt. Ed Valin delivered a hard - hitting message on drugs to a Chamber of Commerce Tuesday noon gathering. He made it clear that " drug pushing and use are more prevalent in the better neighborhoods, where there is money to make the purchase, maintain the habit."

While Pleasanton "is still relatively clean," Valin noted the prevelance of drug use "in Walnut Creek, in Danville and even in Livermore" is spreading also to this community "as more and harder drugs become available."

Involved in drug enforcement since 1956 when he worked with Hayward Police Department, Valin serves as "a one man narcotics force" in the Pleasanton area. Funding is one of his big problems, "money for better enforcement, and money to use in making purchases" that can often lead to arrests. Valin says he is "trying to convince the city" to make more money available to combat local drug abuse.

When he first began his work here, "marijuana was the big problem. But now it's PCP, cocaine and heroin." Of these, "PCP is the worst ... it can turn a human being into a vegetable, and I've seen it happen."

Cocaine is the "hot item" right now. "It sells for $1400 an ounce, then is broken down to bring $55 to $70 a gram."

Valin cited the case of a "Pleasanton resident who was also a prominent San Francisco businessman." Pleasanton police knew him first only as "a pusher of marijuana. But then, about two years ago, he was picked up in a big drug bust involving some 20 pounds of pure heroin."

Enforcement of drug abuse laws is often difficult, sometimes impossible. "Parents and the courts are little help," the veteran police officer said. Valin sees the best hope as "talking to the 6th and 7th graders, telling it to them straight, in their own language." The high school set is often skeptical of that same message. "They throw it right back at us ... say 'How can you put it down when you've never tried it?'"

Asked "How do drug users support this habit?", Valin answered, "I wish I knew." He cited "shoplifting and home burlargies as persistent sources of the drug addict's funds. "As the drug addiction takes hold, the addict will resort to anything ... thefts, muggings, even murder to satisfy that hunger."

And to the question "What is the major source of hard drugs?" Valin answered, "It could be your next door neighbor."

Twisting around

You know how it is on opening day — everyone wants to get into the act — and that's what happened last Saturday when city officials and local residents dedicated the new tot lot at Loma Alta Park. One of the swings saw a lot of action with no less than nine boys doing the juvenile equivalent of stuffing a phone booth. The playground was the result of the volunteer effort of at least 60 families who worked with the Loma Alta Playground Action Committee and raised $5,000 in private funds to pay the major share of the installation's cost. New state report

Teen VD ed pays off

School instruction about venereal disease is proving to be an effective weapon in controlling VD rates among California teenagers, according to a new report published by the state Department of Education.

The incidence of venereal disease among teenagers in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Santa Barbara counties has declined significantly while it has increased for other age groups, according to the report. Schools in the three counties have what the department terms "aggressive programs in VD education."

Studies made among young people who have had instruction about venereal disease bolster the belief that education is an effective weapon against VD, the report says. Young people who have had the benefit of such programs are significantly better informed about the symptoms of VD and the methods of treatment than teenagers who have not received VD education, the department reports.

"The purpose of this publication is to remind educators, public health professionals, and others concerned about VD education that while we have made a good beginning in California, we have no reason to be complacent," according to Wilson Riles, state superintendent of public instruction. "Venereal disease is a complicated public health problem, and the schools must continue to have a role in preventing it."

Through a series of workshops, staff members of the state department's VD project office have trained more than 10,000 teachers, administrators and school health personnel in techniques of VD instruction, Riles points out. Approximately 90 per cent of the schools in California now have some form of VD education.

"The response to the new emphasis on VD education in recent years has been encouraging," the report says.

The report recommends that VD instruction should be started in the late elementary grades, no later than grade seven. It also recommends that no teacher be compelled to teach the course. "Unless the teacher is comfortable discussing this subject with students, the time taken for VD instruction will scarcely be worth the effort," the report contends.

San Francisco's program uses students as teachers of other students. They are paid a minimum hourly wage and must be able to constantly answer a variety of questions about VD as program representatives in their high schools. Students often seek out the peer educator in school hallways, the report adds.

Copies of the report, "VD Education in California," may be obtained for $1 each (plus 6 per cent sales tax for California residents) from Publication Sales, P.O. Box 271, Sacramento, Ca. 95802.

Mendenhall principal lists honor students

LIVERMORE — Mendenhall Intermediate School principal Bob Dougherty has announced the names of 120 seventh and eighth graders who have made the Principal's Honor Roll for fall quarter.

Top seventh graders include:

Wheelchair marathon set to aid handicapped

HAYWARD — A Wheelchair Relay Marathon will be conducted from 10 a.m. Saturday to 10 a.m. Sunday under the auspices of The Self Dependence for the Handicapped Resource Center, Inc. in Hayward.

The event has four objectives.

"First, we want to help promote A World Without Barriers," said Lucille Wallace, a Development Vocational Rehabilitation trainee. "Next, we want to thank Hayward for making the city accessible to handicapped. We can go anywhere in this town thanks to their thoughtfulness in building ramps and other aids."

Wallace said it was to be an expression of thanksgiving although the official holiday would be over. And they hope to get in the Guinness Book of World Records.

Amounts of one to ten cents per mile may be donated. For further information contact Alice Johnston, executive director of Self Dependence for the Handicapped, or Jeffery Evans, office coordinator, at 582-1225.

The prescribed course will extend two to three blocks starting at the door of the handicapped Center, 24800 Mission Blvd., Hayward. It will continue to Jackson, Foothill, B streets then reverse. Participants will stay on the sidewalks.

Each entry will be involved 10 minutes at a time. Handicapped and able-bodied may enter the marathon.

The event will be attended by Hayward Mayor Ilene Weinreb, Alameda County Supervisor Charles Santana, Representatives of Assemblyman, Bill Lockyer and Representative Pete Stark.

MR. AND MRS. STONEY WALLER
(Robert Thomas Photography)

Paynter - Waller

Susan is the daughter of Thomas and Shirley Paynter of San Ramon, and is currently teaching at Small World Pre-school in Dublin, along with attending the Diablo Valley College in Pleasant Hill.

The son of Steve and Alice Rykowski, Stoney is a truck driver for Wintcel Inc. in Oakland and is a 1973 graduate of Dublin High School.

The Wallers will make their first home together in Castro Valley.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN MATTINGLY, JR.

Jaklich - Mattingly

The marriage of Lorna Jean Jaklich of San Ramon to John Mattingly, Jr. of Vicksburg, Miss. was solemnized Oct. 16 in a ceremony at the St. Timothy Episcopal Church in Danville by Rev. George E. Ridgway.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Jaklich and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jaklich of San Ramon. She graduated from Dublin High School in 1973 and was recently discharged from the U.S. Navy.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Betty Mattingly of Vicksburg, Miss. and the late John B. Mattingly, Sr. He is a graduate of St. Aloysius High School in Vicksburg, attended Hinds College in Mississippi and is presently stationed as a carographic draftsman with the U.S. Army at Pearl Harbor in Hawaii.

The couple honeymooned at Lake Tahoe and Barbers Point, Hawaii and will be making their home in Hawaii.

Vegas - Huerta

Wearing a Juliet gown made of Chantilly lace, Leslie Ann was attended by her twin sister Lisa and given away by her father Anthony Vegas. A 1976 graduate of Amador High School in Pleasanton, Leslie is the daughter of Evelyn Vegas of Pleasanton and Anthony Vegas of San Leandro.

Her groom Roy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Huerta of Newark. Roy graduated in 1972 from Irvington High School. He is currently employed with Peterbilt Motors Co.

The Vegas will reside in Pleasanton.

Wheeler - O'Loughlin

St. Augustine's in Pleasanton was the site chosen by Eileen O'Loughlin and William Wheeler for their marriage vows Oct. 9. Wearing a long ivory gown with lace sleeves, Eileen was attended by her sister Lynn and Debbie Foster. Terry Wheeler served as best man and Steve Edwards was an usher.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. O'Loughlin of Pleasanton, Eileen graduated in 1975 from Valley High School in Dublin. William graduated from Valley High School in 1974, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wheeler of Dublin.

Following a reception at Hap's Restaurant in Pleasanton, the couple honeymooned in Carmel and Los Angeles. They have made their home in Pleasanton.

DEBORAH FERRULLI AND GREGORY NEWTON

Ferrulli - Newton

Deborah Ferrulli will be wed in white satin, carrying pink and white flowers, on Nov. 27. Her groom is Gregory Lee Newton, presently stationed at NAS Moffett Field with the U.S. Navy.

Gregory is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmie Ray Newton of Livermore, and is a 1974 graduate of Granada High School. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patsy Ferrulli, Deborah is attending Granada High School.

The wedding will take place in Livermore's Asbury United Methodist Church, with a reception following at the Eagles Hall. The couple will make their home in Pleasanton.

ACS elects officers

"Cancer may not be cured in our lifetime, but cancer today is the most curable of all the major illnesses."

With this statement of pessimism and hope, H. Anthony Engelbrecht, M.D., re-elected President of the Alameda County Unit of the American Cancer Society opened the Society's 31st Annual Meeting and Awards Presentation, which was held at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley last week.

In his message to more than 125 volunteers, friends and Board of Directors, Dr. Engelbrecht said that while research continues to make progress toward a cure, right now medical technology has the ability to cure approximately one out of two cancer victims.

The key, said the Oakland radiologist, is education, and that the Society continues to spread this word to all segments of the community in Alameda County.

Installed along with Dr. Engelbrecht as new officers were: Geneva Humphrey, President-Elect (Livermore); Al Holloway, Vice-President, (Oakland); and Marjorie Roesling, Vice-President (Oakland).

Returning for second terms are Parthenia Douglas-Beal, R.N., (Alameda), Secretary; and Vernon B. Child, Treasurer (Piedmont).

Awards also were made to volunteers in Education, Service and Rehabilitation, Crusade and the Media.

Recipient of the Volunteer of the Year Award was Ms. Frances Skiles of Berkeley, who helped raise more than $17,000 in that city. This was double the total raised last year.

LORI PLATO AND BARRY HAIGHT

Plato - Haight

A family wedding has been planned by Lori Plato and Barry Haight for Feb. 19 in Carmel. Lori is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Plato, Jr. of Pleasanton and is a 1975 graduate of Amador High School. She is now a dental assistant at Alisal Medical Center.

Barry is currently employed at Dupar Dynamics Co. in Hayward, and is a graduate of Amador High School (1972) and Oregon Tech in Klamath Falls. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Skip Haight of Pleasanton.

MR. AND MRS. MARTIN COLBERG

Walden - Colberg

Shannon Park in Dublin provided a lovely setting for the garden wedding and reception of Jeanne Walden and Martin Colberg Oct. 10. Married by Rev. James Griffiths, the bride wore a chiffon gown over taffeta with a Sweetheart neckline, and was given away by Lee Roy Walden. A 1972 graduate of Dublin High School, Jeanne also attended M.T.D. Business College and now works at the Central Services Building for Mervyn's in Hayward.

A machinist for Caterpillar Tractor, the groom attended Amador High School. He is a reservist in the Air Force.

1 env. unflavored gelatin
¼ c. cold water
¼ c. boiling water
¼ orange, unpeeled, cut into pieces, seeded
½ c. sugar 1
½ c. cranberries

Sprinkle gelatin over cold water in electric blender container. Allow to stand while assembling other ingredients. Add boiling water. Cover and process at low speed until gelatin dissolves. Add orange. Cover and process at high speed until finely chopped.

Add sugar and cranberries. Cover and process at high speed until cranberries are finely chopped. Turn into individual molds or 3-cup mold or bowl. Chill until firm. Unmold individual servings on orange slices. Serve as relish accompaniment with turkey, chicken or pork. Makes 4 servings.

Never underestimate a lady's persistence

Few will pause to remember the name of Sarah Josephs Hale (1788-1879) on Thanksgiving Day. Yet it was this eloquent New England housewife who finally caused President Abraham Lincoln to proclaim Thanksgiving Day a national holiday in 1863 — after she had fought a single-handed campaign for more than 30 years.

Historians at Hallmark Cards have only recently pieced together the story of this unusual woman, who was born in Newport, N.H. Widowed in 1822, with five children to support, Mrs. Hale became a professional writer. One of her early efforts was the poem "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

In 1837, say Hallmark researchers, Mrs. Hale moved to Philadelphia to edit the influential Godey's Lady's Book. There, in a 40-year career, she wrote editorials that shaped the opinions of millions. She often wrote about higher education for women, but the cause Sarah fought for most ardently was a national celebration of Thanksgiving.

She made numerous speeches and dispatched hundreds of letters on the subject to presidents, governor, businessmen and influential citizens.

Then in September, 1863, Mrs. Hale climaxed her campaign in a powerful article beginning with these words: "Can we not establish our yearly Thanksgiving as a permanent American National Festival on the last Thursday in November in every state of the Union? Then in every quarter of the globe our nationality would be recognized in connection with our gratitude to the Divine Giver of all our blessings."

That did it. Sarah Hale's determination won out. The following month, on Oct. 3, President Lincoln picked up his pen and signed the Proclamation that made Thanksgiving Day a national holiday for all time.

Ortiz - Braaten

A February 12 wedding is planned for Leslie Ortiz and Kim Braaten. The daughter of Delbert and Lois Ortiz of Livermore, Leslie is a 1973 graduate of Hayward High School. Kim, who is presently employed at Kaiser Aluminum Chemical Corp., graduated from California State University at Hayward in 1975. He is the son of John and Lois Braaten, also of Livermore.

Growth again

The argument that "urban growth" might be contained within the cities of Livermore and Pleasanton, or even the unincorporated clusters of Dublin and San Ramon, is given serious rebuttal with the changing scene west of Interstate 680.

Always the little - known rural reaches just beyond the more established urban centers. Sycamore and Tassajara and San Ramon valleys promise soon to come into their own as "new residential communities." And they will do it notwithstanding the concerns of any existing residential cluster.

This struggle came to light once more with a recent meeting of the San Ramon Valley Community Planning Committee. Despite the protests of almost 100 nearby home owners, St. Louis Investors won approval for a restaurant, motel and gas station complex at the intersection of Sycamore and Camino roads.

We don't suggest the project is poor land use; we do submit there is a startling change underway in all of the land south from Mt. Diablo and along both flanks of I-680. (The great flat expanse at the northern end of Tassajara Valley once advanced as an "alternative airport" is not going to remain dormant long, even should that airport proposal be shifted elsewhere.)

As we have observed often in these columns, growth is a fact of free enterprise, of the demand for homes and services and the industry's ability to meet that demand. We might put the lid on here, and there, ... but there is always some stretch of land where a willing seller and an eager developer can get together, to meet a very real Bay Area demand.

San Ramon Valley rejects incorporation, influenced by a vigorous campaign waged by large property owners who want no local "Town Council" to impede their plans. Livermore adopts a firm "slow growth" policy, but finds itself outflanked by "New Town Las Positas" hard by the city's northern border.

There was that day when Pleasanton stood as an agricultural oasis, defiant of any urban intrusion ... but then "San Ramon Village" emerged to provide more new housing in five years than Pleasanton had in the previous 150.

Change will come, that's for sure. The real challenge is to be prepared, and to make growth work for all the people rather than just the quick profit of an ambitious few.

That 2nd hospital

We keep getting "feelers" on that campaign by doctors and Valley residents to build a major medical facility directed toward the needs of Pleasanton and the San Ramon Valley. Conceived in Danville and/or Dublin, the campaign is now finding interest in the southern extremeties of that proposed service area.

This newspaper can find no fault with some free - enterprise effort to provide hospital care. We do suggest, however, that the venture would gain some badly - needed credibility through full disclosure on the details, the sponsors and the intent of that plan.

Valley Memorial Hospital, which was also "privately funded and run by a non - profit corporation," quickly found itself in public hot water for failing to keep the local communities informed on VMH's plans to better serve its market area. It was in fact that failure which first prompted this new group to consider "an alternative plan" for the Amador and San Ramon valleys.

No matter who builds that facility, it is evident that the patients who make use of the hospital are, in the final analysis, the ones who provide financial incentive for its existence. That could mean any one of us; and that's why we think all of us are entitled to know what the good doctors and their friends have in mind when they start soliciting "investors" in order to gain a "certificate of need" which leads in turn to a "non profit corporation" with a promised side bar of "profits."

Let's hear the whole story, and the sooner the better.

Hindsight/Foresight

More on scores

A phenomenon of the state test scores discussed on Sunday's editorial page is the practice by some parents of seeking homes in the area of schools that produce top test results.

We were made aware of this last week in a conversation with Dr. James Solberg, an assistant superintendent in the San Ramon Valley Unified School District, and via a followup discussion with a parent seeking just such information.

What some parents do is, when they are considering a move to a fairly affluent area, is to request the realtor check the school or schools in that area to learn what the most recent test scores have been.

In fact, according to Solberg, some parents already living in the district will check test results from their school and compare them with results from another school in the district.

Obviously, some families have the means and the inclination to pull up stakes and move from one area to another within the same district, using test scores as one criteria for their move.

The caller last week seeking information on test scores in the San Ramon and Murray school districts would fall in the former category — a parent eying a move into the area but wanting to know which schools had the higher scores.

There's certainly nothing wrong with this practice if one has the means, but the basis for this moving "game" is a hollow one.

One would be foolish to believe that just because schools in a particular district score high and others nearby score "average" means the former posses better teachers and facilities.

Comparing can be a dangerous game. In addition to the "givens" in a situation, there are also the intangibles.

One can sit down with district test results or individual school test compilations and quickly determine that one school or district scored higher than another on math, written expression, reading or spelling tests.

But these scores tell little if anything about the quality of the teaching staff, facilities, and teaching procedures.

About the only generalization that one can make from the scores of second, third, sixth and twelfth graders of 1975-76, is that San Ramon students scored higher than most of their peers throughout the state.

Murray, Amador, Pleasanton, Sunol Glen and Livermore students generally - speaking did well on most of their tests — especially in comparison (there's that word) with other elementary and high school students throughout the state.

I believe it can be left at that and for those who want more detailed information, the results are available through the respective school districts.

Letters to the Times

Murray pact

Copy of a letter to —
Murray School District
Dear Trustees:

I commend you on your ratification of the MTA contract. It was a shame the teachers had to go to the extremes they did before they were heard. I hope the parents of this district do not have to go to any extremes before they are heard!

Since 1,765 signatures are being considered a minority opposing a conversion of a school, it appears the conversion issue should be placed on the ballot and let the majority of the community be heard.

At this time, monies would be wisely spent upgrading programs at all the schools for all children. This aspect should be studied instead of assuming it would be more costly than a conversion.

It is about time the board consider efficiency instead of a goal set forth many years ago of a K-6 and 7-8 program.

This community wants and deserves facts and better education for our children. Not assumptions!

Wrong line

Editor, The Times:

According to those being quoted in the news Valley residents voted against the pipeline to carry waste water to the Bay because the proposal contained excess capacity for future industrial growth.

I voted against it because I firmly believe there has to be a better solution and for the same reason that the Sons of Liberty threw tea in Boston Harbor — I'm a bit fed up with being told what is best for me by people who commit money other than their own when making such decisions.

If the effluent disposal policy mandated for our valley were universally adopted we would soon have every river in this country duplicated in steel and concrete and very little if any water left in the original streams. We have long since passed the point at which we could afford to use fresh water once and then dispose of it in the sea ...

For the past 15 years every person and agency charged with setting environmental standards has felt compelled to make the standards tighter regardless of where they happened to be, whether there was evidence of undesirably effects at existing levels or what it would cost (some one else) to tighten them. With all the discussion of our waste water problem I have yet to hear what standard is being exceeded or threatened or the justification for the standard.

I do know that we have a Federal Air Quality Standard for oxidant based on "health effects" which is regularly exceeded more than one day per year ... EPA has given up its plan to meet this standard in the Los Angeles and Bay areas by virtually elimination of the private automobile. Congress was smart enough to recognize the growing public reaction and restrained EPA from carrying out such a plan. Now no plan exists with a realistic expectation of meeting the oxidant standard ...

But because we have wasted billions of dollars a year out of shear arrogance in the field of air pollution is no reason we should do the same in water management.

Most students of the problem do not believe the U.S. population will level off below 300 million. If the whole country is to carry 50% more people does anyone believe growth can be restricted in this valley. If any pipeline is to be built it should plan for that kind of growth. But even more important, if we are going to have to sustain that kind of population can we afford to pipe water to the Bay making it unavailable for reuse?

Hugh W. Ellsaesser

SRV opposed

Copy of a letter to:
Mr. Ken Samuels
Chairman,
Commercial Development
Committee

On November 10, some 150 to 200 homeowners from Greenbrook, Greenwood and Shadow Hills met with Mr. Tony Udjer to hear his proposal for a shopping center to be located on the southeast corner of Greenbrook Drive and Camino Ramon.

There can be no doubt that the unanimous feeling in this meeting was to prohibit commercial development of any kind on this corner. This feeling is in line with the new General Plan for the San Ramon Valley which shows no commercial development from Sycamore to Crow Canyon cast of Interstate 680. Many reasons exists to deny this type of development, primary among them is that owners of the property near the proposed center were told that this area was zoned for multi-family residential ... To allow the development of a shopping center is a breach of faith to these homeowners.

Mr. Udjer was not able to adequately answer questions concerning traffic flow, design requirements on the center, lighting, etc. Most often his answers were, "I'll do whatever the county requires."

The people of the area most directly affected by this development are united in opposition to commercial development in a residential neighborhood.

We call on your Committee to deny its endorsement of this project and to recommend strongly to the Contra Costa County Planning Commission that this body not allow this project to proceed.

D.H. Sledge, President
Greenbrook Homes Association, Inc.

round the town

Does anybody read this thing?

The one common fear among all journalists is that which suggests no one, not even mother, has taken time to read the writer's latest epic. The author of a novel has that book's sales by which to measure reader response. The creator of "Snoopy" can be confident his comic strip is received ... if only because the T - Shirts are selling well.

Even the pastor's assistant who turns out that tiresome church bulletin can count the number of parishioners who carefully study that printed piece ... during the even more tiresome recitation of the Sunday sermon.

The columnist has no such measure. We labor mightily, reaching for just the right nuance, the clever double - entendre. (Sometimes I sit before this typewriter for all of three minutes before I begin this production ... a fact which becomes evident as the masterpiece unfolds.)

That is why "the great sock epic" was so encouraging. Produced in the depths of last winter's literary vacuum, the matching and unmatching of socks quickly emerged as the one piece, the single cause, to which thousands (actually there were 27) of readers could identify. Now, I am happy to report, my effort has penetrated the inner sanctum of sockdom.

The manufacturers of men's hose have come up with an answer to the problem of unmatched, and therefore unwanted, socks.

Perhaps you saw it in the Sunday metro press. A full page ad from Macy's, no less. "NO MORE MISMATCHED MORNINGS!" the page was headlined. And below, for all of Macy's world to read, the details on "Interwoven Perma - Snap socks ... they stay snapped together through thick and thin ..."

I cannot begin to tell you how thrilled this makes me. Here I am, a humble columnist of rural - suburban origins, coming up with a cause that has permeated an entire industry! And even Macy's.

Oh sure, some one among you will recall that "your column really suggested safety pins to keep socks together, rather than Perma - Snaps." A mere detail. Does history record that Columbus got lost on his way to India when he discovered America? Of course not. We explorers are known for our triumphs. The path we travelled is not important.

Actually geography was never my strong suit, anyway. Take that recent piece on Alisal Ranch, for instance. A real charmer, right? Highly informative, you agree? So what if I placed Alisal Ranch and Solvang in San Luis Obispo County. I really can't see what Phil Lockwood of San Ramon is so shook about.

Phil contends that Alisal Ranch and Solvang are in Santa Barbara County ... "at least that was the case last week, as well as during all of the years I worked for, or published, the Santa Ynez Valley News." (I can assure you that publishers of small community newspapers are no better geographers than columnists for small daily newspapers. So there.)

Despite his high - handed response to my slight slip (I was, after all, only one county off in my reference to Solvang) Phil Lockwood of San Ramon acknowledges that he finds certain information of value in these columns.

"I particularly enjoyed the one concerning your trip to Britain," he writes. "At somewhere near the same time I also was in Britain, during which period I enjoyed a coronary heart attack near London."

I submit that it might have been Phil Lockwood's failure to grasp the geography of those British Isles ... the London streets that spread out from Trafalgar Square in such intriguing mystique ... the rural roads of Ireland that are shoulderless, signless and even laneless ... all of this proved too much for a country publisher from the Valley of Santa Ynez.

But I do not wish you ill, Phil Lockwood of San Ramon, formerly of Santa Ynez. In fact I look forward to meeting you, as your note promises. If we cannot agree on Solvang's geography, we might at least share a pitcher of English ale. And talk of things that all writer/publishers have in common, including bad arteries.

You might also bring along your own inventory of unmatched socks, Mr. Phil Lockwood of San Ramon. Since we obviously both pre - date the Interwoven Perma - Snap era, I suspect we belong to that time when a weekly newspaper person was hard pressed to find a single pair of matched socks to start the day.

Finding exotic places like Solvang or Trafalgar Square came later in life. It just shows the lengths to which a poor writer must go in search of his material.

Rick Kane

We are nearing Decision Days '76 for the nation's football fans. The college bowl matchups have been announced, and the pro countdown to the Super Bowl has begun.

But it's interesting for a moment to gaze past the big games, and think about the annual draft of top collegiate players. That will come up again sometime in January, unless the draft is finally torn asunder in the courts of law.

If the yearly flesh market auction is sustained, former Amador Valley High School player Rick Kane could be selected in the first round.

Perhaps by the Oakland Raiders.

The all-time leading running back at San Jose State, Kane has undergone Raider scrutiny since high school days when he rushed for 2,600 yards at Amador. It helped that he played just a couple of blocks from the home of Oakland coach John Madden.

According to legend, Madden saw Kane one night in Pleasanton and said; "He's the most dynamic force I've ever seen on a football field."

Madden is not one for superlatives, so you can assume the fable has been embellished over the seasons. But he was impressed.

And the Raiders have kept in touch.

If the rest of professional football ignores the 6-0, 190 Kane until Oakland's turn in the draft, he could become the team's biggest hometown hero.

Favorite sons are valuable properties in the sports business. Baseball's Cincinnati Reds built a National League dynasty around a local product, Pete Rose, who grew up on city sandlots.

Kane's a little late to do the same for Oakland. The Raiders have been dynastic in their sport for years. But he'd certainly boost the team's community image.

Local university standouts have been drafted by Madden in the past. Few have had Bay Area roots as deep as Kane's, however.

The prospect of a Pleasanton school boy attaining sports stardom in his own backyard are good. Not only would Kane give Oakland a hometown favorite, he'd add punch to the football team. If you follow the Raiders, you know they lack a "dynamic" running back.

Rick Kane could fill the gap.

In just two seasons at San Jose, after transferring from the University of Oregon, he set a school career rushing record of 1,967 yards. Last year the former Amador Don ran for a single season record 1,144 yards.

Though he slumped to 823 yards this year due to injuries, Kane has been selected to play in the East West Shrine Game.

Some may be wary because during his college career Rick Kane picked up bad raps for attitude. He left Oregon because the team was a hopeless loser and the coach was frittering away the young man's running talents.

Stories surfaced that Kane was a disciplinary problem. Madden was asked once about those stories and if they'd influence any decision on drafting the player.

The coach scoffed, and said he only looked at football ability, not physcological jibberish.

If it matters, Kane's final two seasons in college were devoid of the "bad apple," rumors. To the Raiders, it probably doesn't matter. Kane is a choir boy compared to some of the outspoken folks in the Oakland history books.

The real issue is whether he can near his 1,000-yard performances at San Jose, in pro football. If that's possible, the Raiders might welcome him aboard. Kane will play somewhere in the National Football League. It might as well be near home.

Livermore's biz

Editor, The Times:

According to Heilpern's front page article on Livermore business in which Mr. Gorland, the new Community Development Director was interviewed, things are picking up.

Mr. Gorland, who should know, says "these losses have been compensated by new business Far In Excess of what the losses have been," (emphasis added). Mr. Gorland's statements seem to vindicate the taxpayers no vote on Prop. N in the recent election. It seems business is good in Livermore, revenues are up and business has an optimistic future.

It looks like our general fund will be well larded. Let's hope the bureaucrats don't start now creaming off the top lard. Let's hope that Gorland's work pays off to bring in more sales, business, etc. monies to help expand our tax base and provide jobs for our residents.

If a community is well balanced with residential, industrial and commercial populations, there should be money in the bank for taxpayers for catastrophic events; it should not all be spent for mini parks and beautification. I hope the city council of this year looks back on the 20 years past and learns a lesson of good and sound financial health so that our people are not taxed out of their homes and businesses.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The position you take on a major issue today will not be a popular one. Opposition is likely to be rather heated.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Someone who will be laboring by your side today will be very difficult to please. The fault lies with your coworker.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're prone to take speculative risks today. Don't be prompted by surface values. They could lead you down the primrose path.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Those whose wills are more forceful than yours will try to make decisions for you today. It's best for you to do your own thinking.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be sure of your capabilities or you may tackle a task today, get in over your head and make a mess of things.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 23) You could feel a strong compulsion today to cater to your extravagant whims. You'll later regret it if you spend beyond your means.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Usually you're the first to make concessions when called for. Today, you're not likely to yield an inch unless you're assured of something greater in return.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your motives today may not be up to your normally high standards. You could possibly use tactics that are beneath you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't take people you have financial dealings with today at face value. Chances are most will be okay, but you could encounter one who's unethical.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Someone who has caused you a problem may try to put a few roadblocks in your way today. This person usually telegraphs his moves. Forewarned is forearmed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll be disappointed if you expect more from others today than they are able to give. Be appreciative of the little things they will do.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't pal around with anyone today whose bad reputation could cast a shadow on your own.

Your Birthday

Nov. 24, 1976

You'll be very enterprising and ambitious this year. Your prospects for success look encouraging, especially if you can form alliances with winners.

Opening lead — K ♣

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Today's hand would represent a considerable challenge to modern bidders. Anyone can look at the North-South cards and find a lot of ways to reach seven hearts. Nevertheless, we feel that if this hand appeared in the final round of the Blue Ribbon pairs, any pair reaching seven hearts would score about 10 match points out of a possible 12.

When it appeared in a rubber bridge game in the British seaside resort of Bognor, the lucky holders had no trouble reaching seven on the bidding shown in the box.

The analysis is interesting. It started with the understanding that a vulnerable three opening guaranteed seven tricks.

North looked at his own four tricks and jumped to six hearts on the theory that when you start with 11 tops you should be able to score 12 by good play.

Then South made a typical 1930 grand-slam bid. He had his seven tricks for his opening three bid, but reasoned that the fact that they consisted of six trumps and a side ace made them a super seven. In addition he was void of clubs.

Seven made easily since South's third diamond went on the ace of clubs and his fourth spade was ruffed in dummy.

The Culbertson was the first artificial four notrump convention. Blackwood replaced it because it was both simpler and better.

Shooters ham it up in fog

In the Bag

Page Hopwood sparkplug of the Ham and Turkey Shoot at the local rod and gun club last weekend, says that in spite of heavy, cold fog of a morning a large number of shooters were present and enjoyed the day.

The North/South Bay League Shoot is the next event at the Livermore - Pleasanton Rod and Gun Club to be held November 28. Competition starts at 10 a.m. sharp. Practice traps opens at 9. Twelve gauge ammo available at the club grounds.

The LLLRA Club Bass Derby was a complete success last Saturday. According to Mel Caywood, Herb Combs, and Bill Simpson (Directors of the Derby), some outstanding catches were made. Following is a list of winners, most of them local entries:

Dennis Church, 27¼ lb. bass; Tom Knorr, 27 lbs; J.C. Morris, 25 and ¾; Bill Lutton and Pauline Floyd, a tie, 22 lbs. each; Bob Rowsey, 20 and ¼; Dick Odell, 19; H. Rutan, 17½;

Chakedis Dennis, Howard Davisson, and Leo Richardson, 3-way tie for 17 lbs. each; Paul DePriest, 16½; Cleve Gunderson, 16; Leo Wilson, 15 and ¾; Jean Higby, 13½; Victor Morris and Richard Feil, tie, 12 lbs; Judy Hicks and Sonny Hicks, tie, 12 lbs; and Bill Jordon, 10½. These were the select top twenty.

Juniors include John Caywood and Rick Nida, tie, 13 lbs. each; and Mike Simpson, 12¼ lbs.

Honorable mentions were Herb Combs with 10¼ lbs; Ron Hill, 10; Jim Vanatta and Greg Stanford, tie, 9½ lbs; Dick Grayson, 8 and ¾; Lloyd Higby, 8; and Jackie Luton, 6½ lbs.

In the Catfish Division, Marty Kearn, 3 pounds; and Al Hahn, 1½ lbs.

Stan Beacher was the only qualifier for sturgeon with a 22½ lb. catch.

Door prizes were awarded to Richard Delvert, a 23-channel CB; and to Hal Johanson, an electronic calculator.

Great fishing results for a one-day event. The fishing gang all expressed thanks to the directors for an excellent derby again this year.

While CB's are the big thing this year, don't forget that an inexpensive walkie-talkie can be invaluable on your little hunting trips. Take one along when you go out for birds (or even buck hunting). A light one would serve the purpose very well. Perhaps a one channel rig would keep you in touch with your buddies across the slough or in the next blind. Small instruments do not cost much and are easily carried.

A tow chain is also a handy gadget to keep in your hunting vehicle, as I discovered a week or two ago when the old van got stuck in the tules! Be sure it's big enough to do the job. It shouldn't be any smaller than 5/16" diameter chain at the smallest. A tow cable is also advised if you have 2 or 3 feet of chain at each end. A cable is vulnerable to sharp corners or kinks, while a chain on each end lets you wrap it around vehicle frames or bumpers where there are sharp corners.

An interesting report has been received from the Department of Fish and Game (DFG) about more trout for less money.

A bond issue approved by California voters six years ago has begun to produce dividends for trout fishermen in the form of increased hatchery production with more efficiency and at lower unit costs.

The achievements were made possible, said the DFG, by the modernization and expansion of five hatcheries that supply trout to State Water Project reservoirs.

About $3.5 million of the $6 million allocated to the Wildlife Conservation Board from the Recreation and Fish and Wildlife Enhancement Bond Act of 1970 was used to rebuild or expand state hatchery facilities.

Funds went to rebuild Crystal Lake Hatchery in Shasta County, Fish Springs Hatchery in Inyo County and San Bernardino County's Mojave Hatchery, and to expand Fillmore Hatchery in Ventura County and Black Rock Hatchery, also in Inyo County.

Through the expansion and modernization program, the DFG was able to increase trout production by 18 per cent, from 3,140,812 pounds in 1974-75 to 3,730,413 pounds during 1975-76, and to reduce costs by 12 per cent, from 99 to 87 cents per pound.

Although the total cost of trout produced and planted rose 6 per cent during the period, the cost per pound planted remained at 18.3 cents and the cost per pound produced and planted dropped 12 cents, from $1.17 to $1.05.

Cost savings were achieved in spite of an inflation rate of about 6 per cent that resulted in sharply increased expenditures for fish food, energy and other production and planting costs.

May you all have a Happy Thanksgiving!

Mat booters romp in opener

Granada High School's soccer team, loaded with experienced veterans, opened the 1976-77 non-league season yesterday with a convicing 4-1 victory over the visiting Berkeley Yellowjackets.

The Matadors, who finished fourth in the East Bay Athletic League last year with a 9-4-1 record, showed good team work in disposing of the vistors.

"Our whole team played well, considering it was a season - opener," admitted Granada mentor Bill Coupe. "Our plassing was a little ragged but that's what you kind of expect in a season opener.

"Our defense is defintely ahead of our offense at this time," he went on. "I cannot really single out any individual. It was just a team effort."

Prehaps another reason the Matador offense was somewhat sluggish was the cold, frigid weather which hovered in the 40's at game time.

Whatever it was Granada lossened up a bit in the second half and sealed the Yellowjackets' coffin. Ahead 1-0 at the halftime break on a yard shot by Kurt Honodel, the Matadors scored two quick goals in the early part of the second period to put the game on ice.

Mark Robinson scored the second goal on an assist from Kevin Burke two minutes into the half. Three minutes later, Manzar Iqball, who starred for the Granada tennis team several weeks ago, took the ball from Burke at midfield, weaved his way through a number of Berkeley players and fired the ball in from about 10 yards out.

However, after that quick two-goal explosion the Matadors seemed to let up a little and Berkeley scored its only goal 11 minutes into the half when Karuem Abudulidumn slammed one in from five yards out on a penalty shot. Granada goalie Gary Lamb was called for pushing off and that set up the Berkeley goal.

That seemed to bring Granada to life again and the Matadors dominated play the rest of the way, keeping the ball near the Berkeley goal most of the time.

The final Granada goal came when Burke, who was outstanding on offense, slammed one in on the right side of the Yellowjacket net.

To show the Matadors' dominence of the contest, Granada had 14 shots on goal in the first half to just seven for Berkeley. Lamb, who was outstanding in goal for the Matadors, had four saves in the first half, including a diving grab late in the period.

The Matadors play host to De La Salle of Walnut Creek Friday at 1 p.m.

"They (De La Salle) lost to Amador 5-1 so we'll know more where we stand after we play them," Coupe remarked.

Driver's free throw aids Foothill win

A runious traveling call on Bob Agnew of Oakland Royce and a subsequent free throw by Foothill's Pat Drive enabled the Falcons to hold on to a sloppy 56-52 non-league basketball win last night in Pleasanton.

Drawing fouls like a picnic attracts ants, Peter Smith of the losers led the game with 29 points while Foothill's Steve Sperber, despite fouling out, led the Falcons with 11 points. Phil Moore, Kevin Haraughty and Rick Rosenbach shared the rebounding lead for Foothill with an economical five apiece.

The Jayhawks began the game as though they just didn't want the basketball, turning it over 20 times in the first half alone —including repetitous five - violation burst in the final ninety seconds.

But Foothill, ever the perfect host, coughed it up 14 times in response and 16 of the teams' 47 combined first-half points came via turnovers.

Royce probably wished it was secluded at its fashionable Mont Clair district campus when the Falcons ran up a 19-5 lead, seconds into the second quarter.

Burly blond center Steve Sperber led the way for Foothill until he joined teammate Lane Joseph on the bench with a troublesome fourth foul.

That, perhaps more than any other factor enabled the Hawks' to mount a genuine challenge.

Fluid forward Greg Sims rolled through a gang of Falcons for an inspiring three-point play and stocky guard Peter Smith drew foul after foul from the eager Foothill subs.

Sims canned the front end of a one-and-one situation to bring Royce to five back, 24-19, before Pat Geck widened Foothill's halftime lead with a last-second pair of foul shots.

Woefully, the game most members of both teams would prefer to forget was delayed for a couple of restless minutes when Smith fumbled his contact lenses — perhaps seeking a change of pace from the sameness of the basketball — in the deepest, darkest environs of the key.

Cal soccer team full of optimism

California High soccer coach Jon Rego is aiming for an .800 season and his assistant, Tom Viramontez, would be the first one to back him up.

"If the kids had a year to pick as a winner they'd pick this year," Viramontez said yesterday. "We're bascially aiming for a .500 season with the valley teams (Livermore and Pleasanton) and an .800 record overall.' he said. The Grizzlies, coming off Monday's.3-3 tie with visiting Bishop O'Dowd, take a 1-0-2 mark into their first leage match with San Ramon High School. They'll also take all of last year's team into the November 30 encounter.

And Vuramontez likes the situation. "The kids are really enthuastic this year. This is only our second year in the varsity program," he said.

"It's going to be real interesting after the first half of the season. I think that will tell a lot."

Viramontez, whose been at California for four years, offered his views on the tough upcoming East Bay Athletic League season.

"We'd like to go 1-1 against the valley teams." he said. "Foothill is going to surpise a lot of people. I think we can hold our own with Dublin and the San Ramon Valley clubs."

Viramontez also thinks his junior varsity, which hasn't given up a goal yet, can handle a lot of clubs, too. "We have four or five kids who could be playing varsity he said.

"The jvs here are coming up with big stars. We're a club to look out for."

"We're capable of doing a lot of scoring," he expressed. "Providing the offense are Roger Lakner, Chris Osheroff, Bob Peterson, Roger Hurlow, and Peter Steller."

Can Cline replace Nasty?

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers may soon find out whether their preseason gamble on Tony Cline will pay off.

With starting right defensive end Cedrick Hardman through for the season, former Oakland Raider Cline is sure to get more playing time. Hardman broke his right leg late in Sunday's 23-3 loss to Los Angeles.

Blocked shot foils Grizzly cagers

UNION CITY — Archie Cox blocked James Lucas' attempted jump shot at the buzzer to give James Logan a 50-49 win over California High in a pre-season basketball scuffle here last night.

The Grizzlies, matching the Union City school in size and speed, carried a 39-34 lead into the final stanza, but committed a number of turnovers in the final seconds as victory slipped away. Cal led, 41-34, before the Colts ran off a 12-2 spree of points to take a 46-43 lead with 2:39 to go.

From that point the Grizzlies kept inching back but could never take the lead, as Logan's Marcus Jones sank two key shots after Cal threw away rebounds that would have given them a chance to take the lead. The Grizzlies' final chance came when Craig Cline inbounded a pass to Larry Walters with five seconds to go. Walters passed to Lucas across the key, but Cox's snuff ended the contest.

Cal, although shooting only 32 percent in the first half, picked up the advantage by hitting on nine of 16 free throws. The Colts, on the other hand, dropped in 10 of 22 shots from the field for a 45 percent clip but went to the line only six times and just scored two free throws.

The Colts took a 10-9 lead into the second quarter, but the Bears quickly cut that margin on sparkplug Lucas' shovel lay-in just 50 seconds into the quarter. After Logan scored six straight points on jumpers by Cox, Blake Chong, and Russ Kawaguchi, the Grizzlies ran off a 10-2 spree to take a 21-18 lead. Chuck Cary's three-point play with 3:51 to go keyed the rally.

Both teams exhibited fast-break offenses leading to numerous fouls and turnovers. The Colts were especially hurt by their miscues, throwing away a bevy of easy fast breaks and missing simple lay-ins under the basket. Lucas and Cox tied for game honors with 15 points apiece while Walters, Cary and Sacramento each pumped in 10.

The Grizzlies' next game will be December 2 as they take on Ripon Christian School.

USF cagers much improved

SAN FRANCISCO — Coach Bob Gaillard talks of the adjustments some of his young University of San Francisco players must make in the basketball season opening this weekend.

But those adjustments seem minor in comparison to last year, when three of the Dons' starters were freshmen making the tough jump into major college basketball.

"They certainly should be ranked in the country's Top Ten," Coach Dick Edwards of California told Northern California basketball writers Tuesday.

The Dons, who finished 22-8 and as runners-up to Pepperdine in the West Coast Athletic Association last season, just missed the Top Ten in The Associated Press' preseason poll. They are ranked No. 11 going into Friday's opener against San Francisco State.

"I'm very optimistic about everyone's physical and mental condition," Gaillard said, noting that a schedule which includes Tennessee, Houston, Notre Dame and St. John's should give the Dons every opportunity to earn a national ranking.

Gaillard said that Bill Cartwright, the 6-foot-11 sophomore center, appears to be the most improved of the young USF players.

"He's gained about 20 pounds and is playing at 245, which should help him. He's going to the basket more, not taking as many fade-away jump shots, and should make his physical presence felt a lot more," Gaillard said of the center who averaged 12.5 points last season.

Jazz throttles Golden State

NEW ORLEANS — Pete Maravich scored 37 points and E.C. Coleman held Golden State's Rick Barry to nine points Tuesday night as the New Orleans Jazz defeated the Warriors, 117-94, in a National Basketball Association game.

Maravich scored 20 points in the second half as the Jazz overcame a 56-53 halftime deficit. Coleman, meanwhile, shut out Barry completely in the second half.

The victory gave New Orleans a 10-7 record. Golden State is 7-8.

Gus Williams led Golden State attack with 15 points. Aaron James of New Orleans was the game's second-high scorer with 25.

Golden State starters Clifford Ray, who had a sore ankle and Jamal Wilkes, who had a stomach disorder, played only in the first quarter because of their injuries.

Forty-eight enter Holiday Classic

NOTE: The Ballistic Soccer Club will hosts its Ninth Annual Holiday Soccer Classic in Pleasanton beginning Friday. Starting today, the Times will preview the 48 teams that will make the tourney one of the biggest youth soccer meets on the West Coast.

Today, a look at the under-eight and under-ten age divisions. Each have eight teams, divided into two four - team groups for round - robin play. The winners of each group will meet for the championship Sunday.

UNDER-EIGHT
DIVISION A

Ballistic Eagles — Undefeated leaders of the host teams first division under-eight grouping, the Eagles are noted for their speed, discipline and team spirit.

Right wing Scott Wulferdingen has scored 12 goals and fed off for five assists while left wing Kevin Harris has scored five times and added three assists. Fullbacks Chad Karsting, Darrin Niethammer, Brian Peden and Bobby Reasoner form an excellent defense to aid goalie Joe Mellon.

Dublin Shamrocks — Undefeated in house league play, the Shamrocks average five goals per game and haven't allowed more than three goals in any one outing. Only seven of the 15 players competed in organized soccer a year ago.

Jeff Ouellette, David Baker, Stuart Kinyon, Mark Johnson and Paul Hanson are the standout players.

Las Vegas Red Rock Eagles — Despite only four players with previous experience, the almost - exclusively seven - year - old Eagles have come from behind for three of their six victories.

Feller Aki and Nick Drakulich lead an offensive line that has matured over the course of the season while Mike Matich, Mike Schoenbaechler, Martin Schlogeler, Cliff Chiak and goalie Jon Stevenson anchor the defense.

Fremont Roadrunners — The Roadrunners are 8-1-1 this season with 38 goals for and just six against.

DIVISION B

Sunnyvale Spartans — An undefeated first year club comprised mostly of seven year olds, the Spartans' defense is solid, allowing just one goal in six games as opposed to the 33 Sunnyvale has scored.

Coach Joe Granucci declined to name any standouts, saying, "We have no real standouts. All the boys are average in skills and hustle, they all have good attitudes toward soccer."

Concord Athletic League Kings — The Kings sport a 12-4 record this season.

Livermore Bumblebees — The Bumblebees, boasting the best record of any of Livermore's 30 under-eight teams, are another "starless" case, who's team spirit has carried them. The 'Bees, in compiling a 7-1-3 record, have outscored their foes, 21-5.

Coach Robert Cowan says of his side, "It would be unfair to single out any of the boys on this team over any other boy for special recognition.

Ballistic Ensigns — The Ensigns have chalked up a 4-2-2 mark this season.

UNDER-10
DIVISION A

Dublin Cobras — With a year of playing together under their belts, the Cobras have lost almost as many games as the rest of the age group combined and will be spoiling for an upset.

George Miner, Wayne Klier, Donny Spear, Chuck Spears, Mike Daw, Tommy Borghelli and Dean Tilla are the players to watch for Dublin, 3-6 this season.

Wolters Apaches — Undefeated in 14 games, the Apaches have been tied thrice and have outscored their opponents, 65-6. Eight of the players have played together for three years and played on the team that won last year's California Youth Soccer Association Cup.

Ballistic United — Al Caffodio League champions, United has won 14 while losing only three to compile a 67-for, 31-against goal record. Strong defensively, Ballistic likes to control the midfield.

Chris Poulos is excellent in goal while Mike Sellar has been called the strongest fullback in the league. Shawn Salazar is an intelligent midfielder while Mike Duesterhaus and Jurgen Ruttke sparkle on the front line.

Vegas Valley Wildcats — Undefeated division leaders at home, the Wildcats have been together two years and have 14 nine year olds on their 18-man roster. Winners of nine straight, they've scored 47 goals and allowed just five.

Goalie Kevin Anderson and fullback Rudy Sanchez are the co-captains while forward Robbie Asson leads the team in scoring thanks to playmaking by center half Luis Leon.

DIVISION B

Ballistic Spartans — Boasting good overall strength and eleven older players, the Spartan have rung-up a league-leading 7-1 record and outscored their opponents, 28-6.

Richie Gray, Sam Swyers, Ryan Rollins, Greg Stimpson, Scott Reali and Eric Van Etten are the Spartans top individuals.

Concord Athletic League Wolverines — The Wolverines have won eight and tied one.

Livermore Clippers — A combination of two eight year old teams that played up a division a year ago, the Clippers have been training four nights a week since July. Coach Jack O'Connor stresses team play and the Clippers have developed into a fast-paced passing team.

Center half Vince Martinez has boundless hustle and a good outside shot while Darren Lee contributes with ball control and well-placed shots in front of the goal. Steve Duncan is a small, but dedicated defender.

Sunnyvale United — A high-scoring, balanced attack has helped Sunnyvale snow their opponents under, 84 goals to 10. Veterans of international play — at the Calgary Invitational Tournament — United is 13-2 this season.

Dottie dumps dozens

Woman bowlers took over the spotlight last week in league action at the Granada Bowl in Livermore.

In the LLLRA Mixed League, Dottie Dobson went into the night with a 133 average and bowled her first plus-200 game, a 245. Dobson, recently engaged, will receiver a Women's International Bowling Congress award for bowling more than 100 pins over her average.

In the Savings Bond League, 140-averager Eleanor Sage tallied a 231 on her way to a 522 series. Another WIBC award winner was Lynn Garbini of the Valley Follies League, who bowled a 150 "triplicate."

But, the men were not totally outdone in the award department.

George Davis, in the Reno League, picked up the agonizing 7-10 split. Steve Bartier, who's 165 average was compiled in the Sunday Special League, rolled games of 195, 212 and 211 for a sparkling 618 series.

Ralph Cagle of the Guys and Dolls League, posted a high series of 617.

Rangers sign Alexander

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Right-hander Doyle Alexander signed a multi - year contract with the Texas Rangers, agent Jerry Kapstein announced Tuesday night.

At a late-evening news conference, Kapstein said Alexander was the eighth of his 10 free agent clients to sign agreements within the past week.

Rangers General Manager Dan O'Brien said the American League club was "delighted to acquire Doyle Alexander" and referred to Kapstein as "our super director of player personnel."

As was done with the previous seven signings, neither the dollar amount of the contract nor the number of years was announced.

Alexander, the losing pitcher for the New York Yankees in the first game of the 1976 World Series, won seven of his last eight games during the past season and had no-hitters going for 5 2-3 innings in four of those games.

"I hope I'll have many good years there," Alexander said of the Arlington, Tex., club.

Alexander and Kapstein said the Yankees organization was actively seeking contract renewal but a "difference of opinion" precluded an agreement.

Kapstein said several other clubs were interested in the 6- foot-3, 190-pound Alexander, but Texas was most agreeable to his client. Alexander said he chose the Rangers for other reasons than the salary.

"They will have an outstanding ball club," Kapstein said of the Texas team.

Alexander was the second free agent signed by Texas. Earlier, the Rangers reached terms with shortstop Bert Campaneris.

With Alexander joining the Rangers, only two of Kapstein's free agent clients remain unsigned. They are pitcher Rollie Fingers and All-Star second baseman Bobby Grich. Last week Kapstein announced the signings of outfielders Joe Rudi and Don Baylor, pitchers Wayne Garland and Don Gullett, catcher Gene Tenace and infielders Dave Cash and Campaneris.

Rudi and Baylor went to the California Angels, Tenace acquired by San Diego, Cash to Montreal, Garland to Cleveland and Gullett to the Yankees.

Other free agents still unsigned are Reggie Jackson, who spent the weekend in Montreal talking with Expos officials, infielders Richie Hebner and Tito Fuentes, and pitcher Steve Stone, among others.

Vikings earn Pop bowl bid

The Livermore Vikings clinched the Golden Empire Conference Midget Division Pop Warner football championship Sunday, with a 24-23 win over Vacaville.

Although Vacaville jumped out to a 7-0 lead, Livermore came right back with an 80-yard run off tackle by Mark Sanchez. Jack Trudeau's kick put the Vikes ahead breifly.

Passing their way to another TD, the Bulldogs regained the lead, but lost it less than a minte before halftime as Kevin Trudeau fired a 40-yard touchdown pass to Chuck Soto. Jack Trudeau again kicked the two-pointer.

A catch - as - catch can play by the Vikes led to the final TD in the third quarter. Kevin Trudeau passed to Jack, who in turn lateraled to Sanchez, who streaked down the sideline to complete the 55-yard score.

Jack Trudeau then made it a perfect day with his third PAT in a row.

Mark Sanchez gained 119 yards rushing while Jack Trudeau added 43. The pair had the Vikes offensive line of Mark Wagner, Bob Giachello, Doug Jones, Bob Peterson and Steve Johnson to thank for at least part of those outstanding performances.

On defense, Todd Dry, Sanchez and Peterson helped shut Vacaville down in the second half while Mark Riley blocked a punt and recovered a fumble as Jack Trudeau intercepted a pass.

Saturday, the Vikes play in the bowl game they earned a trip to as part of the Golden Empire title, facing Marin - Sonoma at 5 p.m. at Solano Community College in Suisun City.

The Dublin Squires will play at the same site at 11 a.m.

Cowboys' nemesis honored

DANVILLE — The East Bay Athletic League may not have had an athlete win the Flecto Sports Award this week, but Livermore High nonetheless figured prominently in the selection.

The Cowboys inability to stop Fremont Washington quarterback Mike Ricupito's passing resulted in a both a 48-20 NCS AAAA play-off win for the Huskies over the 'Pokes and 192 yards passing and the Flecto for Ricupito.

In Contra Costa County, Pleasant Hill High School's Linda Robinson won the girls varsity race at the NCS cross-country meet in a time of 11:52.4 to outdistance five rivals for the Flecto.

Monte Vista swimmer Noreen Doyas, who won two events at the Alameda High Invitational and Mustang gymnast Joline Gaffney, who won four events, including the all-around, in the advanced cass of the EBAL meet were nominated.

Brad Anderson, who helped ruin Granada's AAAA football chances, was also among the nominees. The Pinole Valley receiver caught seven passes for 112 yards in Friday's 42-13 win over the Mats.

Pleasanton parks say thanks

Citizens' contributions to the local parks and playing fields were honored last week by the Pleasanton Park and Recreation Commission. Commission Chairman Jerry Wifley, third from left, presented the plaques to Bob Getty and Jack parker of Pleasanton National Little League, Joan Meyers of Pleasanton American Little League and Joan Guthrie of Bobby Sox girls' softball for their work in creating and maintaining facilities at Sports and Recreation Park. Jacquie Oliverius, right, accepted an award on behalf of the Loma Alta Playground Action Committee for that group's installation of a tot lot at Loma Alta Park. (Times Photo)

MARTINEZ — Supervisors formally established paramedic services in the county Tuesday and authorized the county Health Officer to certify training programs.

The Board of Supervisors also authorized the County Hospital to participate in the classroom phase of the paramedic and mobile intensive care nurse training programs.

The board did not give its okay to the County Hospital to participate in the field training phase of the program or to provide base station services until costs could be determined and then reviewed by the supervisors.

The Health Officer will now be charged to certify paramedic and mobile intensive care nurse training programs and the graduates of these programs; develop and issue standards for base station and receiving hospitals; establish and issue procedures for the monitoring and evaluation of the paramedic system.

Los Medanos College under a contract with Stanford University is teaching paramedic and mobile intensive care nurse courses. The courses for the paramedic training are being taught in Danville. The nurses' course is being taught alternately at John Muir Hospital and County County Hospital.

It is expected that the students will be ready for field training in December.

Bob Eisenman, secretary of the county Emergency Medical Services, said Tuesday after the supervisors' approval that he expected the cost reports on how much it would cost County Hospital to participate in the field training and to be a base station hospital would be ready by December.

He said the Emergency Medical Services Committee has hopes that County Hospital will be a base station hospital.

Jeff Price proudly displays the bicycle he won in the Bike Ride Against Diabetes contest partially sponsored by McDonald's. Mel Brock, manager of Dublin's McDonald's, Judith Schissler, community representative for McDonald's and Jeff's mother, Janet Price, share the moment.

SRV youth wins bicycle in benefit

DUBLIN — Jeff Price was awarded a 10-speed bicycle Nov. 20 as a prize for being top winner in the local Bike Ride Against Diabetes contest.

The area contest was sponsored by the Northern California affiliate of the American Diabetes Association and McDonald's, 7145 Dublin Blvd., Dublin. It was held Oct. 3.

"With all of the paperwork involved throughout participating areas, it took this long to receive notification of the winners," said Judith Schissler, McDonald's community representive in Dublin.

Twelve - year - old Jeff Price lives in San Ramon. Since he did not own a bike he had to borrow one and fix it up to enter the contest. He wasn't too sure it would last during the 10-mile course.

To win the new bicycle, Price had to collect more money from his sponsors than any other rider starting the Bike Ride Against Diabetes from McDonald's, the originating point.

The exact amount of his award-winning collection was not announced so that competition for next year's Bike Ride would remain open.

McDonald's Manager, Mel Brock, hosted ceremonies when Price was given the 10-speed.

The highest amount collected by any rider over any of the 60 routes in the 1976 Northern California Ride totalled more than $1,100.

Women's basketball planned

DUBLIN — A women's basketball league will again be sponsored by the Valley Community Services District beginning Jan. 4 at Nielsen School in Dublin.

League games will be played on Tuesday evenings. Each team will have an opportunity to practice prior to the starting date.

An organizational meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Dec. 2 at 7:30 p.m. at Shannon Park Community Center.

All team managers and interested individuals are invited to attend. For further information please contact the VCSD Recreation Dept. at 828-7711.
